CAPTURES ROCKAWAY SELLING FROM SLICKAWAY.

Grappie, a Favorite, Scores First Victory of the Season for Frank J. Farrell -Keene's Suffrage in Bare Form -Hot shot a Surprise in the Steeplechase

Fred Burlew's Juggler, who was badly beaten in the Carter Handicap, was victorious in the Rockaway Selling Stakes, six furlongs, at Aqueduct yesterday. Burlew believed that luggler had the Carter at his mercy and those who recalled this fact were ready to take any price against the son of Hamburgsive, who was steady at threes. Mean Thomas's Jacobite, who had wintered at Sheepshead Bay, was said to be ready, which caused the smart people, who fellow form, to back him down to 9 to But dacobite ran as if a tride short, for when he seemed to have the race in hand as he reached the middle of the stretch he suddenly stopped in spite of the vigorous whipping to which Notter subjected him. Then it was that Hennessy rushed Juggler to the front, the Hamburg gelding winning by a couple of lengths in 1:14 1-5. D. Kelly's Sllokaway, to 1 shot, ran gamely in spite of a sor toth and took the place by four lengths on the disappointing Jacobite.

Frank J. Farrell's colors were carried to ory for the first time this year by Grapple, who scored a hollow victory in the third race, a handicap at six furlongs. With Beckin the saddle. Grapple receded in the hetting from 7 to 10 to 4 to 5, when the stable commission was placed with a lavish hand kman, ridden by Miller, meanwhile went back to 11 to 5, while the Oneck Stable's Clare Russell was played down a point to 5. Just as the barrier went up Miller alipped a foot out of a stirmp and was quickly thrown to the ground. That settled Workman's chances so that it was just a breezing gallop the rest of the way for Grapple, who won as he pleased in 114. Clare Russell was three lengths be-

There was a hard tumble in store for the are thing players who made J. W. Colt's commodore Fontaine a 9 to 20 favorite in the steeplechase, at about two miles, for the Commodore was defeated by T. Hitchock, Jr.'s, Hot Shot, 8 to 1. As a matter of fact, Hot Shot, who is a half-brother to Gunfire, was pounds the best, for Palmer rode him all over the course in a shocking manner. But toward the end Hot Shot had so much speed that he practically took command of things himself and gradually wearing the favorite down in the run home on the flat he won by a length and a half in drive, the time being 4:32 2-5. Commodore Fontaine made nearly all the running and had forty lengths over Larry Mulligan's

Louis Cella, who has a big stable here, scored his initial success of the campaign the first race, a four and a half furlong for two-year-olds. His colors were carried by Rustle, a filly by Russell, 3 to favorite, who showed the way practically from the start and was an easy winner by a couple of lengths. H. T. Griffin's Evelyn G. played down to 4. ran into the place, a length and a half before Wood Stockton's ey of Spades, who receded to 7 to 2. The time was 0:54 1-3.

James R. Keene's fleet mare Suffrage, by Voter, at prohibitive odds, ran off with the fifth race, for mares, three years old and upward, five furlongs. The only other starter was David C. Johnson's Handzarra, which was not critte ready. Handzarra, with Garner up proke in front and showed the way to the bend in the chute, where Miller cut the Keene mare ose and she proceeded to gallop down to the adges with three lengths to spare in 0:59 2-5 nly two-fifths of a second behind the track record, made last fall by Mr. Keene's Veil

Sam Emery showed a speedy youngster in Master Robert, a colt by Mazagan and an 8 to a favorite, who led at all stages and won the last race, for maiden two-year-olds, four furongs. Miller had the leg up and the coit was med in 0:47. At the end Master Robert was eased up, yet he had eight lengths over Louis ella's Bridge Whist, 5 to 2, second choice, which was hard driven to beat P. T. Chinn's Senator and a second choice rewarded the form players The weather was pleasant and about 12,000 persons were in attendance. Miller rode two nners and a second. The summaries:

formerly a student in the Chiversity of California. He came to Columbia two years ago and has not engaged in athletics since. Hyde is a hurdler. In recent practice he went over the high hurdles in 15 4-5 seconds.

Owing to the bad weather which has interfered with practice, the university championships scheduled for next Saturday have been postponed until April 30. Ferris Hetherington, who ran the half for Columbia last year, was tried at the quarter yesterday. In company with K. M. Boorman, he ran it in 53 seconds, the two men finishing exactly even. The university authorities have begun the work of getting the field in condition. The large tree which obstructed the 100 yard straightaway was removed yesterday, and the track extended so that there is now abundant room to train for the hurdles and sprints.

Faculty.

Cornell athlete was declared ineligible to-day when the faculty committee on student organzations ruled out Bobby Mantel, first baseman and general utility man on the Cornell man and general utility man on the Cornell baseball team, from all participation in intercollegiate athletics. The grounds for the ruling are that Mantel falls under the same rule that barred out Forbes, the crew man who was dropped the other day, namely, that the class in which he entered has graduated.

Mantel entered with the class of 1906.

GOSSIP OF THE RACETRACK.

T. HITCHCOCK, JR., HAS A PROM-ISING JUMPER IN HOT SHOT.

Sunfire's Haif Brother Races for the First Time Since He Split a Hoof in the Belment Stakes of 1905 -Miller's Narrow Escape-Pinks After Poolroom Men.

Judging from his excellent race yesterday Hot Shot will prove an acquisition to T. Hitchcook, Jr.'s, formidable stable of crosscountry horses. Hot Shot is a five-year-old son of Meddler-Royal Gun and is a haif brother to the late W. C. Whitney's famous mare Gunfire, now in the stud. J. E. Madden bred Hot Shot at Hamburg Place, and as a two-year-old he won some notable events His last race prior to that of yesterday was in the classic Belmont Stakes of 1905, when he ran, third. It was discovered afterward that he had split a hoof so that it was im ossible for him to go to the post again. Madden turned him out and last fall the horse had apparently recovered entirely his injury. Believing that he would make a good steeplechaser, Madden induced Mr. Hitchoock to buy the son of Meddler who made his first appearance over the

Always a game fellow and partial to a ong distance, Hot Shot was not without friends when the betting was under way He was pretty well played at 8 and 10 to 1 while there were many who took him for the place. He was ridden by Palmer, a negro, who surprised the onlookers by taking his mount all over the course, pulling his head to one side repeatedly and appareatly hindering rather than helping the racer. But Hot Shot was full of running, jumped well and outgamed Commodore Fontaine in the run home. The sure thing players got an awful jolt when Commodore Fontaine was Jesse Lewisohn was hungry 9 to 20 and put down a swell bet. So did other plungers who thought that the Colt jumper was in. But there was no such good luck.

Some of these days Jockey Miller will meet with a serious accident, so surfmen believe, because of the fact that he rides with shortstirrups. His knees are bunched up under his chin so that he has very little control over his mounts. In his anxiety to get Workman away from the post in the third race. Miller gave the horse his head, and with a sudden jump the jockey was thrown forward so quickly that one of his feet slipped out of the stirrup. Losing his balance Miller fell out of the saddle. He hung to Workman's neck for a moment and then was dragged by the bridle. As he let go, the crowd cried out in alarm, but the boy bounded to his feet like a rubber ball and hurried, unhurt, to the starter's wagon.

When Grapple won this race with conummate ease Frank Farrell expressed regret that he did not start the Woodsthorpe gelding in the Rockaway Stakes, won by Juggler Grapple won his race with 118 pounds in 1:14 flat for the three-quarters, and he won so easy that Farrell believed that he would have walked off with the Rockaway, in which he would have carried only 107 pounds Grapple was in excellent condition. He was ridden by Beckman, who handled Roseben in the Workman, Carter, and the boy did well. riderless, raced near Grapple all the way, out Beckman did not lose his head and kept his mount well in hand.

Those who heard Fred Burlew and Frank O'Neill offer to bet $5,000 even with Dave Johnson just before the Carter Handicap that Juggler would beat Roseben did not hesitate to bet on Juggler yesterday. They knew that Juggler was a seasoned horse, while they had doubts about the fitness of Jacobite. As the race was run they solved the problem very cleverly. Burlew and his following cleaned up handsomely with Juggler, who was heavily backed at the last mo-Previous' winners of the Rockaway were Leedsville, Gaze, Maximo Gomez, Sadducee, April Shower, Potente, Silver Dream, Gold Ten and Keator. Slickaway, who ran second to Juggler, was led to the post because he was suffering from a very sore mouth. His performance under the circumstances was in the nature of a surprise to both his owner and trainer.

James R. Keene's Suffrage will be a hard mare to beat in the sprint races this year. She made her first bow of the season in the fifth event, and came within a fraction of a second of equalling the best record for the track at five-eighths of a mile. The plungers went to her with confidence, taking 2 to 5 right up to the close of the speculation. Dave Johnson did not care to let Handzarra run loose, so he bet $1,000 on her at 2 to 1. Hand-zarra was not up to a hard race, but she will be heard from, no doubt, in the near future, as Trainer Weir is expected to improve her in Sam Emery, who has not been active in turf affairs for some time, has a pretty fair stable now and made his first bid for success in the last race with Master Robert, a very fast colt. The wideawake clockers had kept tabs on the colt so that the wise bookmakers shocked Emery and his friends by making the youngster a 7 to 5 favorite first crack out of the box. He went up in the betting, but at the close there was a heavy play that backed him down to his original price. When he won in a canter there was praise for his trainer, A. i. Blakely, the old steeplechase jockey, who once rode for Ed Corrigan and other Western turimen. Master Robert's dam is Flocarline, the noted race mare which won in the colors of M. H. Tichenor of Chicago some years ago. Bridge Whist, which ran second, is a colt by Bridgewater—Miss Phœbe, who is a fine looker and warmed up well. He is owned by L. A. Cella, whose horses are all class and in good condition. Senator Beckham, which ran third, is a son of Star Shoot—Marie Decca, due to win soon. August Belmont's Mad Harry, by Hastings—Lady Madge, was backed from 10 down to 6, and though in need of work ran a good, game race. The handsomest colt in the race was the Oneck Stable's Bell Wether, by Wools-thorpe-Favor Bells. The sharps appear unwilling to allow any thing that Jack Joyner starts to run unbacked. Joyner had a filly named Dramatic. by David Barrick-Lizzie Elliott, in the first and she was played from 20 down to 8, only to finish far back in the ruck. The Westera crowd cleaned up with Cella's Rustle, who was played down to 3. Evelyn G., a filly by Don de Oro-Max Droit, who had beaten Thomas Calhoun in work, was the good thing that Tommy Griffin handed out and she was solidly played. Trey of Spades, Elvira M. and Sweet Taire were also supported in this event.

The Pinkertons were on the alert all the afternoon for poolroom agents and finally three men who were caught in the act of send ing flashes to persons outside of the track were summarily ejected. A man who gave his name as Ben Wilson was nabbed at the paddock gate and was locked up in the "dungeon" for an hour or so. W. A. McKinney purchased the two-yearold Kerry, by Arkle, from Jack Joyner between races, for $1,500. Kerry ran second to Thomas Calhoun on Monday and is a promising

The New York Americans were the boys for the hurricane finish yesterday and they wriggled home a nose ahead of the Philadelphias. Something of the sort was needed to set the blood in circulation for it was cold n the hill. A freezing wind swept the plateau. The once great Waddell exploded in the ninth inning, and though Bender was rushed to the breach, the appearance of a good pitcher on the scene did not stem the tide. The New Yorks had the bit in their teeth and were out for nothing short of victory. It is worth while chronicling that Griffith worried through the entire game without changing pitchers.

Deliberate Doyle pitched his first game in New York since last summer. Doyle's arm went lame just after he had landed two victories for the New Yorks in his only games here, but he gave every indication of making teau. The once great Waddell exploded in arm went lame just after he had landed two victories for the New Yorksin his only games here, but he gave every indication of making good then. He pitched the same slow, emotionless game yesterday, but it was a winning game, his varied delivery having all the better of the argument with the opposing batters, except in the first inning. The O. P.'s rocked him for three singles in the first round and then relapsed into a defensive campaign. Elberfeld's hitting, the fledding of Sevbold and the flelding and run getting of Hoffman were leading points of the game. Hartsel's promenade, then humming wallops by Davis. Murphy and Schreck pushed a trio of visitors to the home mark in the first inning. The New Yorks filled the bases in their half, but with two out Williams ended the opportunity by grounding to Murphy.

Waddel's wild throw of Hoffman's tap in the second inning put Danny on third, and another error finished the trip for him. Lord obligingly made the error—a muff of Kleinow's hoist. The New Yorks were scoring in alternate innings, and in the fourth of Kleinow's hoist. The New Yorks were scoring in alternate innings, and in the fourth Williams singled to left. Hoffman forced him. Kleinow singled, Doyle walked, and the bases were filled. On a force of Doyle by Conroy, Hoffman scored.

The Philadelphias lengthened their advantage in the sixth liming. Cross walked and Seybold unexpectedly bunted toward first base. Chase made a bluff at touching Seybold on the line, missed him and then threw to second to get Cross. He threw to left field. Cross going to third and scoring from there while a double play was in progress.

In the ninth the wavering Waddell wavered some more and sent Williams down on balls. Hoffman singled to centre. Waddell went out, but Kleinow pounced on Bender for a hir which scored Williams. Thomas forced Kleinow, Hoffman going to third on the play. Conroy hit to Knight, who threw wild to the plate to stop Hoffman. Keeler sacrificed and Elberfeid followed with his third hit and scored Thomas. NEW YORK (N. L.), 2; BROOKLYN, 1. The New York and Brookiyn teams played ton Park vesterday, and the New Yorks upended the Brooklyns again. It took them ten innings to do it, but they forced the fighting all the way, and though they did not field quite as cleanly as the Brooklyns they played better general ball. They did better batting and base running. While the Brooklyns batted in noticeably hard luck, the hard luck was in the form of fine catches by the New York players of savage drives. Browne slid on his stomach and made one catch, Shannon did a somersault and made another and Devlin speared two liners, one with one hand over his bead.

By the same token, absence of good fielding enabled the Brooklyns to the the score in the minth inning and acquire their only run of the game. Dahlen and Corcoran made the errors that tet in the run, the only inning of the game in which there was the semblance of a misplay. Young Ferguson, large, blond and self-contained, richly deserved to have a shutout placed to his credit. He went through the whole ten innings in finished style and gave a masterly exhibition of pitching. He and ended the Brooklyns again. It took them a masterly exhibition of pitching He and Bell of Brooklyn both had speed, but Ferguson was much more effective. He saw to it that Brooklyn's hits were confined to a messgrethree, and he fielded his position excellently. So did Bell of Brooklyn, who ran up eight assists here and there.

Seymour had a field day at the bat. His shillalah met the ball so nicely that the latter went singing every time but one, three (wo baggers in succession and a long caught fly to right field being Seymour's laventory after a lukewarm beginning in the way of a foul fly. Seymour batted in New York's first run. Shannon hit safely to right in the fourth inning, and Browne put him on second with a sacrifice. Devlin took first on four balls. Seymour's first two bagger came at this stage. It scored Shannon, and would have scored Devlin had the latter not slowed up to watch the course of the ball. With two on bases, Bell squirmed out of a hoie. Bresnahan fouled to Batch, and McGiann, who does not seem able to hit anything, died, Lewis to Jordan.

Bell got out of another hole in the fifth inning. Dahlen and Corcoran singled, and Ferguson sacrificed. There was only one out, but Shannon hit weakly to Alperman.

Bell got out of another hole in the finning. Dahlen and Corcoran singled, and Ferguson sacrificed. There was only one out but Shannon hit weakly to Alperman, and Dahlen was deflected at the plate. Up to the ninth inning the Brooklyns got just four men to first base. Malonev ushered in the ninth mildly by fanning. Casey grounded to Dahlen, and the Bull made a low throw to first, on which Casey went to second. Lumley singled, but Seymour's prompt return of the ball held Casey at third. Jordan hit straight to Corcoran, who fumbled, and Casey was in with the tying run. The Brooklyns should have won the game then and there, but Batch's best was a strikeout, and Alperman was thrown out by Devlin, who fumbled momentarily.

Browne and Devlin between them won the game for New York in the tenth. Two were out when Browne beat out a grounder to Lewis. He stole second by swift running and a long slide, and Devlin batted him home with a solid welt over second. The score:

Baseball Notes.

Both of the Chicago teams are doing well; both of the New York teams are holding their own; both of the Boston teams are doing better than was expected, while the two St. Louis nines are lagging.

A listle more celerity by Lewis of the Brooklyns in getting after slow grounders might make his plays at first base a trifle less close and therefore easier for the umpires.

What with Si Seymour and Kid Elberfeld bing ling the ball the way they are, New York may furnish two champion hitters Czarina New Knewn as Emeline. Rear Commodore Charles Sweeney, who purchased the steam yacht Czarina, has renamed that vessel the Emeline.
